

BENOIT LE ROY

CEO: ENVIRO-ONE

Benoit Le Roy has over 32 years of experience across many sectors due to the work carried out in the water, waste water, waste management, and waste to energy and equipment supply disciplines across most industrial sectors. The integration of these experiences can be best summarised as the Environmental and Sustainability Sectors, in high demand across the emerging economic zone that includes SA and Sub-Saharan Africa.

Benoit's good understanding of global, regional and local environmental trends, technology developments and the application thereof with the associated legislation driving the evolution of these sectors; he has spent the past seven years actively developing alternative waste management practices that are clearly linked integrally with waste, energy and water.

Benoit has developed growth strategies, started new companies, fixed struggling companies and done M&A's underpinned with over thirty years of experience in the environmental sector with diplomas in Business Management and Chemical Engineering.
